```python
from jinja2 import Template

def main():
    return SomeProcessor(model, view, update)

class Msg:
    Increment = "INCREMENT" Decrement = "DECREMENT"

class Model(object):

    def __init__(self, count):
        self.count = count

def model():
    return Model(0)

def update(msg, model):
    if msg == Msg.Increment:
        model.count += 1
    elif msg == Msg.Decrement:
        model.count -= 1

    return model

TEMPLATE = """

  <button onClick="decrement()">-</button>
  {{ count }}
  <button onClick="increment()">+</button>

"""

def view(model):
    template = Template(TEMPLATE)
    return template.render(count=model.count)
```

Where are the types?

REALKINETIC
YOUR POTENTIAL REALIZED

```python
from jinja2 import Template

def main():
    return SomeProcessor(model, view, update)

class Msg:
    Increment = "INCREMENT" Decrement = "DECREMENT"

class Model(object):

    def __init__(self, count):
        self.count = count

def model():
    return Model(0)

def update(msg, model):
    if msg == Msg.Increment:
        model.count += 1
    elif msg == Msg.Decrement:
        model.count -= 1

    return model

TEMPLATE = """

  <button onClick="decrement()">-</button>
  {{ count }}
  <button onClick="increment()">+</button>

"""

def view(model):
    template = Template(TEMPLATE)
    return template.render(count=model.count)
```